A practical guide for wedding planners, caterers, decorators and banquet halls

The Wedding Season Playbook

How to answer every family's enquiry, send quotes you approve, collect advances on time and keep every vendor in sync during the wedding season.

The four automations at a glance

Each automation runs on its own, and they share one record per event. Start with the instant reply: in peak season, the first planner to answer usually gets the call.

	Automation	Starts when	You approve
01	Reply to every enquiry	A family messages on WhatsApp, Instagram or your website.	The reply templates and package details, once.
02	Draft the quote	The family shares date, guest count and services.	Every quote, before it is sent.
03	Payment reminders	An advance or balance is coming due.	The reminder wording and schedule, once.
04	Vendor updates	A booking is confirmed or a detail changes.	Which vendors hear about which changes.

What makes it reliable

Three rules that keep it working

One record per event

Date, guests, package, payments and vendors live in one place, so nothing is copied by hand.

Clear rules

You decide what the AI may say, which dates it may offer and when it hands over to you.

You approve

Quotes, discounts and anything unusual come to you first. Every message is logged.

Automation 01

Reply to every enquiry

Every family gets a warm, useful reply in minutes, even at night or in the middle of a function.

Trigger

A new message on WhatsApp Business, an Instagram DM or your website form.

Steps

1. Read the message: family name, date, guest count and what they want.
2. Check your calendar and reply with open dates and your packages.
3. Ask the next useful question: venue, events, budget.
4. Save the enquiry as a new event record and notify you.

Tools

Channels: WhatsApp Business, Instagram, website form
Records and AI: Google Sheets, Zoho CRM or HubSpot, with ChatGPT or Claude
Automation: Make, Zapier or n8n

> Human approval: replies use only the packages, prices and dates you approved. Anything else comes to you.

Automation 02

Draft the quote

Families get a clear quote quickly, and you still control every number.

Trigger

The family has shared date, guest count and the services they need.

Steps

1. Pick the matching package and add the requested services.
2. Draft the quote in your format with inclusions and terms.
3. Send it to you for approval, edits or a discount.
4. Send the approved quote to the family and set a follow-up.

Tools

Documents: Google Docs, Canva or your quote template
AI: ChatGPT or Claude, with your price list
Approval: WhatsApp or email to you

> Human approval: no quote reaches a family until you approve it.

Automation 03

Payment reminders

Advances and balances arrive on time, without awkward calls.

Trigger An advance or balance is due within the days you set.

Steps

1. Check upcoming due dates every morning.
2. Send a polite reminder from your approved template, with the payment link.
3. Mark the payment as received when it arrives.
4. Tell you about anything still pending after the due date.

Tools

Payments: Razorpay, PhonePe or bank links
Channel: WhatsApp Business or email
Records: your event sheet or CRM

> Human approval: only the reminder templates you approved go out, and you handle anything sensitive personally.

Automation 04

Vendor updates

Caterer, decorator, photographer and DJ always have the latest details.

Trigger A booking is confirmed or a detail changes: date, guest count, menu, timings.

Steps

1. Detect the change in the event record.
2. Write a short update for each vendor it affects.
3. Send it to the vendor or the event's vendor group.
4. Collect confirmations and flag anyone who has not replied.

Tools

Messages: WhatsApp groups or email
Records: Google Sheets or a CRM
Automation: Make, Zapier or n8n

> Human approval: you choose which changes go to which vendors, and big changes wait for you.
